“Within 24 hours we had conducted the first meeting, followed by a second and final interview the following week. The service was fast and efficient, with Hunter Adams presenting the right candidate first time. They have a commercial, no-nonsense approach, keeping you informed throughout. We are delighted with our new UK HR Manager and would highly recommend working with the Hunter Adams sourcing division.”

“From my first contact with Hunter Adams through to the current day, I have found their approach to be nothing short of outstanding. The collaborative and friendly style of engagement made me feel at ease from the offset, decisions and actions were taken quickly and always followed through with the utmost diligence. At all times the business works in partnership with you, as opposed to feeling like a generic service provider. In my opinion this escalates Hunter Adams to a level surpassing its peers and competitors.”
